

Chloe Stevens

Chloe is a Senior Scientific Officer for Refinement in the Animals in Science Department at the RSPCA, the largest animal welfare charity in the UK. She works to promote refinements and improvements in welfare for animals used in research and testing, with a particular focus on fishes and other aquatic species. She has studied behaviour and welfare in a range of fish species, including zebrafish, guppies and mollies, and has a PhD from the University of Exeter in stress biology, welfare and mortality in ornamental fishes.